Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Saturday 04 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Showers easing overnight, then drier and less windy on Sunday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Showers becoming gradually less heavy and frequent through this evening, but a few showers remain possible overnight, wintry on hills. Remaining quite cloudy and windy but turning cold enough for a touch of frost in sheltered spots by morning. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Sunday:
A drier day compared to Saturday but still with the possibility of a few lighter showers, although also some sunny spells. Strong winds at first, these easing through the day. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Rain and hill snow at first Monday, but turning brighter later. Risk of gales Tuesday with rain and hill snow followed by showers. Continuing cold, very windy and unsettled Wednesday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.